The problem

Over 3 billion disposable hot drink cups and lids are used in Australia each year. Most are never recycled. Takeaway coffee cups and lids are resource-intensive to produce - chewing through trees, water, and oil - and usually end up landfilled or littered. Sadly, so-called 'biodegradable' or 'compostable' cups share the same fate, even contaminating other recyclables.

Worse still, many of them end up in the ocean, where they break up into smaller pieces which marine life mistake for food, taking the lives of countless millions of innocent sea creatures every year.

What is Responsible Cafes?

Responsible Cafes is a not-for-profit initiative founded in 2013 by a group of passionate everyday people eager to change the game on this massive issue. The idea is simple. Cafes have the power to change behaviour by incentivising coffee and tea lovers to bring their own takeaway cup. By offering a discount to customers with their own cup, we hope to create a movement around reuse and stop this unnecessary waste.

What's in it for cafes?

- Increase in customer loyalty as regulars take advantage of the discount
- Attracts new customers keen for a discount
- Publicity through our website, searchable map (2,000+ hits p/month) and social media channels (30,000 average weekly reach)
- Free posters and info sheet provided to help spread the message
- Be part of the change in reducing waste and your ecological footprint
